MLD-2013

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, FBIS

FROM: Chief, London Bureau

THROUGH: Chief, Operations Group

SUBJECT: Monthly Report -- London Bureau -- February 1982

I. GENERAL

It was another month in which the Monitoring Service had a chance to show what it could do and present itself both to British officials and to the public at large. In the latter cause, a Thames TV camera crew was the umpteenth camera crew since the declaration of martial law in Poland to visit Caversham to film the Listening Room in action, snaking wires around the place for the better part of two days. The official visitor was the Right Honorable Humphrey Atkins, M.P., deputy foreign secretary and the government's spokesman on foreign affairs in the Commons, to whom we had a chance to show some tapes of Moscow television newscasts. A sort of in-house visitor to Caversham was Mr. George Howard, chairman of the B.B.C.'s board of governors, for whom we were able to demonstrate some satellite monitoring at the ROSET site.

II. OPERATIONS

A. Editorial/Monitorial

1. Events of interest occurred throughout the bureau's coverage area in February, but developments in Poland still dominated editorial operations. One such was "Operation Calm," a 48-hour action by the militia and reserves involving thousands of searches, admonitions, fines and arrests. It appeared to be designed to remind the populace that martial law remains in effect. Several meetings of the authorities contributed to the large Polish file, but ex post facto reports and recordings of speeches, rather than live coverage, continued to be the norm in media reportage under the military. Sessions of the Politburo and the Sejm bracketed the month. Of particular interest, however, were the 2-day plenum of the central committee, its first under martial law, and a meeting of the Polish Episcopate, which followed some unprecedented official criticism of the clergy earlier in the month.

2. While East-West wrangling over Poland at the CSCE in Madrid generated a steady stream of material, U.S.-Soviet negotiations on intermediate-range nuclear forces were the focus of even more significant copy. Moscow's opening gambit was to go public on the issue with a long TASS commentary detailing its negotiating position and questioning U.S. behavior at the Geneva talks. A subsequent TASS statement on the socialist states' new proposals and an exchange between Brezhnev and an Australian peace organization on the danger of the arms race continued the offensive, which was supported by much comment and reporting from the Soviet Union and its allies.
3. Iran marked the third anniversary of its revolution on the 11th with a Tehran rally, relayed live by the radio, at which a message from Khomeyni was read by his son. Three days later, a rumor that Khomeyni had died and a request for observations on media behavior elicited a series of daily FYIs that lasted until the 22d, when the radio carried his recorded remarks at a meeting that day with various Iranian leaders. Al-Qadhdhafi was also heard from this month, several times; most notably in a Libyan radio relay of the opening of an international forum in Tripoli. As usual, his main target was the United States, and the bureau expedited text of his remarks. In Africa, BBC's CAU and EAU provided primary source coverage of the dramatic events in Zimbabwe and Uganda: the ousting of Nkomo from the Salisbury government, and the guerrilla attack on the main army barracks in Kampala. The bureau filed numerous FYIs and items at high precedence, including a 50-minute news conference by Mugabe.
4. As the result of a pressing need to grant some leave to its two Afghan monitors, BBC asked Gulf Bureau to take over Monday and Tuesday coverage of Kabul radio from 22 February through 16 March. Gulf is also providing regular assistance in monitoring Tehran: Iran's introduction on the 24th of a broadcast in Spanish from 0530-0630 knocked the domestic service off the air on the shortwave frequencies usually monitorable at Caversham, and Gulf is now covering this period via the service's regional transmitter relays. After a brief look, BBC decided not to place the new Spanish program on regular coverage. BBC resumed its Moscow in Greek coverage on the 26th; Nicosia had been covering for about a month to allow BBC time to train its sole Greek as a backup English monitor.

5. PMU's Soviet press receipts came to a sudden halt with papers dated 8 February when British Airways baggage handlers at Heathrow went on strike and airline officials were able to off-load only personal baggage. (BA services Aeroflot flights into Heathrow) Initial efforts to cope by increased faxing from Vienna and transfer of less perishable material to UD foundered when the faxing burden became too much for the Austrian Bureau and consumer pressure for more rapid handling built up. The next step was to try air freight via Austrian Airlines and an Amsterdam connection with KLM, which has its own ground service at Heathrow. The package of Soviet papers was slated to arrive on 27 February but did not show up, causing considerable panic and scrubbing PMU plans to work that day, a Saturday. The package finally arrived next day, and PMU staffers are working overtime to clear the backlog. We are now experimenting with use of a courier service. Meanwhile, as insurance, we dispatched PMU's senior Russian monitor [redacted] to Vienna on 28 February to select and fax the most perishable material. BBC has been most cooperative throughout this affair, providing extra faxing time and even renting a third line for several days to accommodate faxing and handle its own heavy Polish commitments. The BBC has also offered the cooperation of its shipping manager at Heathrow, to whom the packages are being addressed.

STAT

6. PMU received an expression of appreciation from the DAILY REPORT for the "sustained high-quality translations" of materials on the PCI Central Committee Plenum and the PCF Congress.

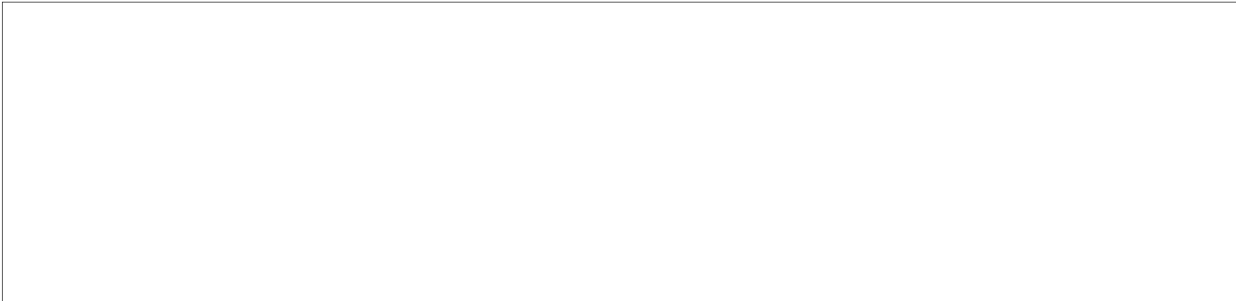

STAT

1. In general, February was a quiet month except for the Karneval celebrations 18-23 February, when all but the most essential work ground to a halt and the wildest of festivities were held

STAT

2. Chancellor Schmidt's 5 February statement to the Bundestag in connection with the vote of confidence Schmidt had called was processed from a live relay on Cologne Radio, Schmidt won the vote handily.
